FOULIRY HOUSE - OTHER HINTS.

A writer in the Agriculturist on the abovest's ject says: Were I owner of a thousand acres and waited to keep a thousand acres and waited to keep a thousand fowle, I would also help the says: Were I owner of a thousand acres and waited to keep a thousand fowle, I would also help the says: Were I owner of a thousand acres and waited to keep a thousand fowle, I would also help the says: Containing not more than the says and th tin, and hang teen out to warm, and hang teen out to warm, and in the ends of the houses, to enter for gathering eggs, etc.

For need eggs select the handsomest eggs you can find; punoture both ends and hiow out the meat, pour titto the empty shell two tablespoonfuls of exicined plaster of Faris, mixed in water to the consistence of cream; keep it revolving for a minute when it will be settled on the shell will be unable to tell from the once he laid last. The house described is in practical operation, and its advantages are perfect cleanliness, consequent health, and content ment of the fowls, the greatest number of fresh eggs secured, and none lost. The fowls get a fresh supply of grass every day, and thrive tetter in consequence. The house may be moved to any locality on the premises, sheltered or exposed according to the secure. Fowls do better in email thus large flocks. When the grass where you started has gut to be fine again, more the house back and commence ancw. With such houses you can at all times tell the number and condition of your lowls, keep different kinds by themelres, and Judge the better of their merits.

coudition of your lowis, keep different kinds by themselves, and judge the better of their merits. WHEN AND WHERE TO PLANT A CHAPE VINE.

Now is a good time to prepare a sport for a grape vine. Many persons are deterred from anything of the kind by the great parade made by some persons in preparing the ground. Now take your shovel, dig out two or three wheel-barrow loads of earth and mix in with the returned soil, two wheelbarrow loads of manure, and you will have a nice bed for acting out your plant. Watch the effect of the frost on the less side of your cwellings and see where it keeps off the longest, and there plant your vines. An easterly or northwesterly exposure is the bost. The idea that grapes require the an all day long in order to ripen them is a matake. Grape vines often run along under the eaves of a building where the sun scarcely reaches them, and they ripen well. The idea that grapes will ripen better by putting off the leaves that cover them, is a great mistake. Every dwelling house in the State should be adorned with a grape vine. Get a Delaware grape and set it out as well in the fall as in the spitage. STOVES

The culture of the hop is very sample—about the same labor per acre as yorn. Plow the ground in the fall, deep. Mark out in April at six or eight feet each wny, stake inits at the intersection with the hoe, and plant two plants in each hill with a setting stick. Keep clean the same as corn, and when the vines rise then comes polung. Hop plants are obtained attention the fresh plants are obtained attention to the fresh plants obtained. In Pennsylvania, they turn the sheep lute the hop yards to eat up the weeds and ground vines. In the middle of August comes picking; append on scalbide and dry in the sun. After cop per acre is about 51c-wt. which at present prices pays. With good culture one planting is good for keyeveral years. At market prices an acre will return $1,500 gross. The tare cannot be more than $100 per acre the liftst year, poles and all. HOP CULTURE.

In about another mouth these useful contrivances for hastering early vegetables and flowers will be in season, out these who dealgn having them should begin to make preparations.
The first of March is carly enough. A convenient sized sash is three feet six by fire led six,
and the most economical glass to use is seven by flue. In making the box, two of these should go together, or it may be three, atthough for common use two is the most useful. For market by commercial purposes, of course there will be long strings of them, and more in the form of pits, and not one of these should or without a two-light sash. Two or three hundred cabages, a few cauliflowers, a landred or so of tomstoce, at least, and those who will take the trouble, a lew peppers, erg plants, lettingted, isloud be planted. After once using a bot bed, farmers will not like to be without it. The PLATED WARE ect, should be planted. After once assing a bed, farmers will not like to be without it. The mannre, before being made into a bed, is belt-thrown together so as to induce a formentation

An Old Mald's Views.

An Old Maid's Views.

Bome one who avows herself an old maid, takes a very cheerful and satisfactory view of the social situation in the Troy Times. Her views will be ol interest to many:

It always actonishes me when I take a realtaing aense of the fact that I am an old maid twhy, you'll actreely believe it, when I confess that I one and offers were as numerous as firtations are no adays. I was always in love. I don't remember the time when I had not some Wille or Frank to dream shout, and write love letters to, and as I doned my long dresses, some handsome Charless Agastus as are to keep my thoughts employed until Mother with greater fascination superceded him. You need not inagine I regret them now. No, toaws My life is a pleasant one.—No one annoys me. No husband mine who other men's wives, or young girls, brosking my heart.
